

A winning choice made by the architect Buratti for the company Acerbis stand presented at the Salone del Mobile in Milan. A metal mesh with stainless steel and brass wire, has been used to cover the central part in the stand, creating a golden gazebo, a set of colors easily approachable to the furniture designed and produced by the company. There was created a natural environment of a fusion of contrasts obtained with diffused lighting effects, where the intensity of the wire weaved ensure a high aesthetic value to the constructed environments in harmony with different styles and colors.
