

Antonino Cannavacciuolo obtains the possibility to renovate and re-open Bar Coccia, local annexed to the homonym Theater, and transform it into a reference point for city catering.

He develops the project with his wife, the Architect Arturo Montanelli and the designer Draga Obradovic, which choose TTM Rossi metal mesh R&R 70x3 for the ceiling of the buffet area.

This fantastic mesh, with stainless steel cables and golden rods, contributes to give to the bar an elegant and '50-style atmosphere; the characteristics of the metal make it shine when enlightened by the spotlights, bringing the entire underlying bar.
