

The characterization of this envelope technology has been designed with a wire mesh stainless steel Crimpy, offering solid image in the view of view and more transparent in the frontal view.
In front of all windows is mounted the metal mesh on movable panels that can be opened like a "book" by engines with an internal control.
This system draws out a statement of textures and transparencies constantly changing, ever-moving, virtually "custom" from people who work inside.

LOCATION

Italy

PRODUCT USED

CRIMPY
Armate