

A panel created with strips of Diamante Bronze wire mesh.

The same metal mesh has been skillfully cut and incorporated in a vertical panel curtain system, creating in this way a modern panel with a fireproof product.

The peculiarity of this mesh, made iridescent by the weaving of two different metals such as bronze and aluminum and combined with the possibility of movement due to the mechanism inserted in the structure, is to create a game of completely different lights and environments which depends on the chosen orientation.
